EX-GOVERNOR MORGAN'S PAINTINGS.

Some 150 paintings collected several years since by the late ex-Governor E. D. Morgan were placed upon exhibition yesterday at the Academy of Design. Measured by the number of square feet which it contains the collection is a remarkable one. Illustrating the periods of transition from "old masters" to Tenth-century art, and from Dusseldorf to Paris, through which so many of our collectors have passed, those pictures have what may fairly be termed an historical interest. Among the French pictures there is nothing of more importance than Jules Breton's large "On the Brittany Coast," a figure piece with a landscape background, in which the artist shows a lively sympathy with his subject despite the want of delicate atmospheric effects, the poor lighting of the canvas and untruthfulness in here and there in the figures. But this was painted in 1870. In point of merit Breton's "The Prince Horace" seems to us first among the Munich pictures, none of which afford much satisfaction from their beauty of coloring or imaginative power. But Breton's picture is a well-painted, expressive and typical presentation of Tyrolean life-like. Linden Schmidt's "Luther and the Reformation at Marburg, 1529," a large portrait group, "with a key," is a strongly but coarsely executed picture, painted in a thoroughly artificial light and seemingly dry of the paintings brought into existence solely that they may be engraved. After the Munich pictures come more cast canvases covered by Berlin artists, like Dielebach's artless, vily colored "Wedding Fete" and Voigt's "Cattle in a Field." With these is a shabby Knabe, and Meyer von Bremen is represented as a master of course. Among the Belgian pictures there are frail and dower pieces by Robie, which are worth attention as excellent examples of the careful and refined treatment of these subjects, as opposed to treatment in masses and simple effects. Such points as the exact drawing of petals, with care for the play of light and shadow, the rendering of delicate shades of color, and the like, are not to be found in any of these pictures, which may be fairly considered as inferior to the pictures of the Berlin school.

There was a struggle over the vote of every incoming Assemblyman to-day. Mr. Erwin was aided by Stas B. Dutcher, Lewis F. Payne and ex-Canal Appraiser Deacon, General Husted's noisy aids were Congressman Birrell, ex-Senator Harry Andrew S. Draper, ex-Congressman De Seversky, Assemblyman Walter S. Baldwin, George Sharpe, James D. Warren, Chauncer S. Cole and John J. O'Brien.

When the eight unopposed friends of the two candidates made public a list of the men they thought would vote for their candidates, For Husted there were 45 votes and for Erwin 33. The Husted men had a considerably greater interest of strict party, while the Assembliesmen of Monroe, County, Stever, of Genesee; Robinson, Oliphant; and Prince, of Wyoming, held a conference and discussed the situation. They decided to support General Husted. The total number of votes cast for the two candidates is estimated at 1,000.

For the office of President pro tem. of the Senate, Senator Law and one candidate, but apparently Senator Davis is the leading candidate. Senator Law, the other candidate, does not give up the contest, however, and there probably will be a struggle between him and the latter if Vrooman will be re-elected Clerk of the Senate.

SWARING IN STATE OFFICIALS.

ALBANY, Jan. 2.—Edward G. Whittaker was appointed Deputy Attorney-General to-day. He has been in the Attorney-General's office three years.

Elliot Dunfor was sworn in to-day as Deputy State Treasurer.

For the attorney-general Post was a boy swearer in New-York, of the State Treasurer's office, who has been acting as deputy for some time, now requires the position of cashier, and will probably remain during the term of Treasurer Fitzpatrick.

FIGHTING HARD FOR THE SPEAKERSHIP.

GENERAL HUSTED AHEAD OF ERWIN—CHANGES AT MIDNIGHT.

ALBANY, Jan. 2 (Special).—The contest for the Speakership of the Assembly attracted the most attention here to-day. Early in the day General Husted's chief supporters held a conference. They resolved to make a vigorous canvass for General Husted. They put the Assemblymen who had already pledged their votes to Husted at work for him and also number of his political friends, who had come from various counties to aid him. General Husted has in his favor all the Republican members from Long Island. In New-York he has a majority of the Hudson, two at Utica, two at Syracuse, two at Rochester, three at Buffalo, three in the Southern Tier of counties and several in the northern part of the State, where Mr. Erwin was unquestionably strong, for he Husted. Besides, it was clear he was supported everywhere in the State by the political friends of ex-President Arthur, ex-Governor Cornell and Senator Miller, while, on the other hand, only one of the Republican chiefs, ex-Senator Platt, was supporting Mr. Erwin.

Assemblyman Smith O'Brien, of Albany, who has been undecided respecting his choice for Speaker, announced that he should support Husted. The accession of Mr. O'Brien caused Mr. Husted's supporters and depressed those of Mr. Erwin.

There was a struggle over the vote of every incoming Assemblyman to-day. Mr. Erwin was aided by Stas B. Dutcher, Lewis F. Payne and ex-Canal Appraiser Deacon, General Husted's noisy aids were Congressman Birrell, ex-Senator Harry Andrew S. Draper, ex-Congressman De Seversky, Assemblyman Walter S. ## SHOT BY A POLICEMAN.

OFFICER WALSH ROUGHLY HANDLED—HE USES HIS REVOLVER.

Policeman Thomas Walsh, of the Harlem squad, while patrolling Fourth-avenue, at One-hundred-and-eighth-street, about 9 o'clock last night, met two young men who were reciting and shouting, evidently drunk. He told them to stop their noise, and received an insulting reply. One of the men received an insinuating reply. One of the men was especially abusive and the officer started to arrest him. He was thrown on his back and blows were showered on his face and head. He could not tell whether one man or both were engaged in assaulting him. When he regained his feet, there remained only the man who had been shouting. Officers may pick up a stone and drop it on his head. He dashed the stone and drew his revolver. The man stooped to pick up another stone.

"Stop," said Walsh, "or I'll shoot." The man paid no heed to the warning, and was about to dash another stone at him, when the policeman took the man and laying him helpless on the ground, when taken to the police station in One-hundred-and-twenty-sixth-street, the wounded man was carried to the hospital, and he was discharged at 11 A.M. This morning he added that he was not yet "finished," the officer, he was removed to the Ninety-third Street Hospital, where he was again exposed to the contumacious and abusive conduct of the physician, Dr. Charles J. Denison. The sole result of the encounter was that he was held to pay for the damage done to Mr. St. Gaudens' "Hawthorne" as soon as his first work is done.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Owen Kellar, of Ohio, having served a satisfactory probationary term of six months, has been permanently appointed to service class 1, in the First Auditor's Office, and the Civil Service rules. Mr. Kellar is a handsome temporary appointment, and is in full sympathy with Auditor General. To this connection are we informed, the Auditor objected to the appointment because of Kellar's political record.

A CONSCIENCE ASTIR FOR TWENTY YEARS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A creature in a Western town has sent a check for $52 to the Secretary of the Treasury on account of the conscience fund.

The man, who is the subject, is a man of twenty-six, the wounded man and he was discharged at 11 A.M. This morning he added that he was not yet "finished," the officer, he was removed to the Ninety-third Street Hospital, where he was again exposed to the contumacious and abusive conduct of the physician, Dr. Charles J. Denison. The sole result of the encounter was that he was held to pay for the damage done to Mr. St. Gaudens' "Hawthorne" as soon as his first work is done.

THE PATRIARCHAL CIRCLE TROUBLE.

NO SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES FEARED BY FRIMONT OLD FELLOWS.

A dispatch from Chicago, yesterday stated that a serious split was threatened in the ranks of the Old Fellows, because of the determination of the Patriarchal Circle to separate from the main body. By a number of Old Fellows a report of THE TRIBUNE was received to John Melode, of No. 23 Vandewater-st., as an Old Fellow well qualified to speak on the subject.

"There is no danger of a split among the Old Fellows," said Mr. Melode. "The Patriarchal Circle has its uses recognized by us, and it must be allowed to stand, but it must not be allowed to grow."

The Patriarchal Circle, which was organized in 1857 by Mr. Huntington, which should be called the Patriarchal Circle, has its uses recognized by us, and it must be allowed to stand, but it must not be allowed to grow."

Washington, Jan. 2 (Special).—Allen Demond is the gay young man who played the part of Harry in "Harry the Hazzard" at the "Mascot" for three performances. He has a good voice and sang "Emma, my love," sweetly, but his record seems not to be above reproach. As Harry Diboot it is his lot in the last to be arrested. Last evening just after his stage arrest, and when he had no more than seated himself in his dressing room, Chief of Police Little, of Elmira, and John Hall, police detective of Brooklyn, stepped into Demond's dressing-room and arrested him. Chief Little showed a warrant from Demond's home in Brooklyn, also a picture of the prisoner. When Demond looked at the photograph he said: "I'm in for it now, I suppose." The charge against Demond, who has traveled under the name of Peter A. Demond, his real name, and the aliases Allen Demond, and Frank Demond, is the six in the First Auditor's Office, and he is a member of the Patriarchal Circle. He is a candidate for an elective office they will vote for him if they are qualified to vote. The Sovereign Grand Lodge of New York, however, has voted to expel him, and that at the session held in Baltimore last September resolved that any Old Fellow who shall, after January 1, 1868, retain his membership in the Patriarchal Circle, or in any other secret organization not authorized by this Grand Body, shall henceforth or may hereafter require a qualification of membership, a past, present or future member of any secret organization, an Old Fellow, and on conviction thereof, shall be expelled from the subordinate lodge.

"Under this order each grand master has to direct every member of his jurisdiction to purge itself of Patriarchal Circle men. If a ledge fails to do this its charter will be withdrawn. Some time ago the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts ordered one of its members to leave it, and excommunicate him. He has joined the Patriarchal Circle. The ledge refused. The Grand Lodge then recalled its charter. The local members made application for it received it and gave it out to the order. The Lodge master did not recognize it as valid, and he has not provided for them since. Officers have been after him for some time, but he always managed to escape. It is said that Demond's love for Emma is the cause of his trouble, and that he has no more than seated himself in his dressing room, Chief of Police Little, of Elmira, and John Hall, police detective of Brooklyn, stepped into Demond's dressing-room and arrested him. Chief Little showed a warrant from Demond's home in Brooklyn, also a picture of the prisoner. When Demond looked at the photograph he said: "I'm in for it now, I suppose." The Patriarchal Circle is greatly exaggerated in some reports that come from the West. When at a convention held in October the members of the circle, who are mostly young men, were reciting and shouting, evidently drunk. They did not do this in the Patriarchal Circle, and received Demond's carcass, reciprocates the favor in this lower style, and that she is the cause of Demond's desertion of his family. The prisoner was sent to jail last night and to-day was taken to Brooklyn to face the trial.
